Leadership Conversations:

Learn the secret art of conversations that stimulate change... fuelled by responsibility

The Magic is found in the Structure of the Dozens of Conversations you have daily

The often yearly big decisions made to steer an organisation through this most unpredictable, fast moving and impatient business environment aren't the ones that transform morale, increase energy, liberate talent, set innovative thinking free and engage everyone wholeheartedly in the business of the business.

Conversations that Engage the Spirit of Adventure

Learn how to use these conversations to take your people on a business adventure. Let them experience the highs and lows, transform the challenges and become heroes; it's these 'pit stop' daily interactions that releases the energy of the people.

These leadership conversations determine the excitement, the motivation and the commitment that are the driving force for increased productivity, quality, service and loyalty.

Powerful short Conversations empowering people to improve performance

When a leader finds new and more powerful ways of having leadership conversations, they develop credibility and presence and inspire others to see possibility: they see people stepping into their talent and leading their lives, moving from a full to a fulfilling life.

Getting leadership thinking at and from every level in your Organisation

Help people at every level in your organisation to engage in success thinking, and action; lifting their heads above their daily tasks and becoming the architects of possibility.

What you will Experience during the Workshop

You can choose the way you learn, observe, listen or take part and practice. You will spend time learning the skills and processes of leadership conversations. You will hear explanations, see demonstrations, practice and get feedback.

A further Workshop Bonus

You will get coaching and instruction in the Confidence and Presence techniques from classical Karate-do, to increase your influence and make all your conversations more powerful.
